Why Women Should Vote Republican

The elevator lurched, then to feminine consternation, stopped. "Ladies, you may not have noticed a man aboard!"

I cut short all obeisance to phone the super on my cell.
He cranked us down those few intervening meters. I fled, peremptorily: softest flutterings agreeable, but contributing little to the working of the world.